WHEN ALL IS SAID AND DONE, MORE IS SAID AND MORE IS DONE

The Status Quo has been maintained, the Judgement was no judgement until the following happened this morning the 22 of February 2022. My Mobile Phone rang at 10.45 am: it was Dr Mwanche from the Long Catlis Road GP Surgery. He asked what time are you going to work, I said I will be leaving at 1.15 and will work on till 10.00 pm. How is it going he asked: I said They were a bit concerned that I had been giving them mixed messages about my sick note and they said I needed a note from the doctor to say that I am fit for work. But ofcourse the surgery said that no such sick note is required. So I missed a couple of shifts. They have increased my probati0on for an additional 4 weeks and are saying that if I miss any more shifts through sickness they will terminate my employment. He said so what do you want from me he asked. I said I have said that whatever I did in the past were safety measures to protect myself from oppression, so if the 13 September 2021 letter from Dr Oedesaya says that this is a sign of paranoid schizophrenia and I am to be mentally ill in that sense, there is nothing I can do. I asked so there is no change in my diagnosis and treatment. He said Not at the moment. OK I said. Thank you. The Call ended.

This morning I had also tweeted as follows:

Dear Amazon

You had asked for a feedback on the following item:

Kindly note my employers stipulations on what the label on Safety shoes should contain by way of descriptive information before I commit myself to purchasing any Safety Shoes from Amazon:

FAO Shantanu

Safety shoes can be self-sourced for use at work that are suitable for their condition – providing the cost is reasonable, this can be reimbursed to the team member. Cost should not be more than £30 in most cases.

Process

- Team member finds shoes, speaks to Store Manager before purchasing regarding price/evidence they meet our safety standard
- - Regional Manager approves cost/ copy in HR Advisor
- - Shoes purchased
- Safety shoes form signed
- - End of process

The BP standard for safety shoes is: (We must be able to see that these shoes meet this standard – normally found on the label or box),

EN ISO 20345:2011 – S3 SRA

. toe protection (200 joules),

. mid sole protection (penetration resistance),

. anti-static,

. resistance to fuel oil,

, water resistant upper

. energy absorption in heel region

If the shoes meet this standard, your Regional Manager can authorise the cost. If they don't, then they are not suitable shoes and additional shoes should be sourced. If no shoes can be found/this is still not a suitable option, then only low risk tasks should be completed as per policy on Rosi+) and HR engaged.

Yours sincerely

Shantanu Panigrahi

Chris Wood is one of the best Englishman that I have ever known in the 49 years that I have lived in the United Kingdom. He has been kind, sociable and tolerant of my numerous faults in coping with mental illness that the doctor has just confirmed amounts to paranoid schizophrenia. I love socialising with him and his wife Margarita Wood. Together with Linda Nicolaides we are a tight knit family circle that my wife also tries very hard to maintain. Thanks Chris for all you have done for me to help cope with my mental issues. Life would not have been possible for me to cope with otherwise.

23 FEBRUARY 2022

Yesterday evening during my shift of work at BP Lenham, my Mobile Phone rang but I could not answer it as I busy serving customers and it was not clear to me whether we could speak to people on private matters during the work time. A voice mail message was left that I was too tired to respond to when I got home at 10.30 pm and the message read that it was Craig from ASDA Chatham, Kent phoning about my job application at the Store. This morning I tried to phone early but it was not possible to be connected to Craig. So at 9.30 am I telephoned again and spoke to him explaining why I was unable to answer the phone when it rang. He understood and checked that I was still in employment. I gave him the details of who I work for and the type of Store it is. He asked whether I was looking for part-time or full-time work. I said part time. He said that is what he is offering, a 12 hours a week contract to work between 8,00 pm and 1200 pm midnight. I said that that would be perfect for me. Could I come for an interview today. He checked and asked if 3.00 pm was suitable. I said it was. Should I bring my passport I asked. He confirmed that this was needed. So I have a job interview today. I wrote to Rashmi in a text that I was going to keep both jobs if I succeed with this one.

Yesterday during the shift Vicky at BP Lenham did my 6 weekly progress assessment and it seemed to be going well. She outlined the further training that I needed to complete online and on site, which I agreed to and this morning I went to the Rosipus website of BP and completed one new module that came up as the next task to be completed.

I then tidied up my correspondence outstanding with the following email reply to Roopali Chopra about a new website that we had discussed forming:

12.00 noon (UK-Time) 23 February 2022

Ralph our gardener did an excellent clear up job from the 'Eunice' storm damage to our front border conifer trees and charged us his usual rate for the work.

I went to my job interview with Craig Higham of ASDA Supermarkets in Chatham. I had two applications there but chose to go along with the Shelf Replenishment job rather than the Online job which would have started from 3.00 am in the morning. The Shelf replenishment job involves stacking three rows shelves of crisps and similar items. 47 people had applied for this job and I was one of the 15 top scorers on the questionnaire assessment that we all had to complete. Craig was comprehensive with his interview method and I answered as honestly as possible but not going into the details of what had actually happened with trolls that caused mayhem in the Sainsburys and Tesco jobs. He asked what did you do before you entered the Retail trade 15 years ago. I said do you really want to know? I was a nutritionist, so I know all there is to know about food and nutrition. Why did you leave that, he asked. I did not say what actually happened at the University of Greenwich which is history: I said I got fed up with it. I like to diversify and get interested in a lot of things. I showed him my list of shifts currently on scheduled for BP Lenham and he asked if I was going to continue with two jobs. I said that is the intention. Bot BP and ASDA are reputable companies and I wish to do fit in both jobs 18 hours a week for BP and 12 hours per week for ASDA to take me to the State retirement age as both have pensions for staff. He said this work is going to have to be very fast you and your team will have to move 80 boxes in 4 hours. I said I consider myself to be a fit man. It will be a challenge. He said it is a temporary job on probation for three months and if your performance is satisfactory, it will become permanent and there will be scope for overtime. I said that is fair. If it does not work out for ASDA or me it would be best to terminate it amicably. He asked about my holiday plans and I told him about the week in third week of May and in September. He said he was going to be doing interviews the next couple of days and then decide on the 7 who are selected. I asked if I would be told before Monday coming (today being a Wednesday). He said yes even on Saturday he could phone me to let me know one way or the other. He made a photocopy of my passport and I had one final question, namely would all the tools needed for the work be provided, like cutters to open the boxes. He said everything would be provided. With that the interview ended in 20 minutes.

Last evening after coming back home from BP and fell in the bedroom hard so that my wrist got slammed against the door or floor and it was painful so I did not know if I would recover in time for my next shift of work on Saturday or whether I was fit enough to take on a second job. But I had to act to complete my correspondence if nothing else and see what is in store for me. Now my wrist is not so painful and I should be able to go to work and do a normal shift at BP.

17.49 pm (IUK-Time) 23 February 2022

I completed half a dozen of new Modules of Training for BP outlined for me by Vicky during my shift yesterday to keep it all up-to date and had signed a 38 Degrees petition as follows:

Hello,

Have you seen this? Water companies are still releasing raw sewage into rivers more than 1,000 times a day.

It's absolutely shocking - but there's a glimmer of hope. The head of Ofwat, the UK's water regulator, said last week that water company bosses' pay should be directly linked to the pollution they pump into our rivers. You can bet they'll start taking sewage pollution a lot more seriously if their paychecks are at stake!

This is a great idea, but it's not yet reality - and it'll take a lot of work to stop water companies shooting it down. That's where we come in! If thousands of us sign an open letter today in support of Ofwat's suggestion, we'll show them - and the government - that there's massive public backing for this.

A huge show of public support right now could give Ofwat the confidence to hold water company bosses to account over sewage pollution. Will you add your name to the open letter today?

Dear Sirs

At 7.25 am this morning I received a text message from Santander Bank as follows:

Santander A/C ending 9612 went into Unarranged Overdraft on 2022-02-24. Payments could be refused if you don't pay enough money into your account.

I checked my Bank Account immediately and saw the following transactions, both of which are fraudulent. Cheque Serial Nos 108325 and 108326 are not even in my Cheque Book. I had received a similar text message from Santander Bank a few weeks ago and that time on checking my transactions no money had been diverted.

24/02/2022	PAYMENT BY CHEQUE WITH SERIAL NO 108325	£998.00	-£1,681.99
24/02/2022	PAYMENT BY CHEQUE WITH SERIAL NO 108326	£998.00	-£683.99

Kent Police would recall that in 2020, Santander Bank had played about with my Bank Account and embezzled money and frozen my account and it took an considerable period of time before the Accounts were restored to normal functioning: About | The Conservative Libertarian Society. A Woman Police Officer visited our house to question me if I had been acting fraudulently so that the Account was frozen and I could not do online Banking.

I telephoned Santander Bank to complain again at this continued harassment by telephoning the 'Report a Fraudulent Transaction (Tel 0800 9 123 9 123 123) at 7.45 am this morning but noone answered the Call.

Please bring this matter to the attention of PC Nicholls with regard to the attached communication: ToPCNicholls(KentPolice)ccIntCrimCrt(Appeal against my 5 hours of detention in Police Custody)21Feb2022.docx.

Kent Police

Dear Sir

According to my wife Kent Police had taken away our desktop computer, my USB Memory Stick and my Old Mobile phone at 8.30 am on the 24 of November 2021 with the information left with her that the materials taken would be returned to us in 3 months' time with or without further investigation by Kent Police of the offences that it was investigating.

Further, I am given to understand that there is a procedure under which I can Appeal against my detention on the 24 of November 2021 from 10.15 am to 5.45 pm in the custody of North Kent Police Station and subsequent issue to me of the attached Notice from North Kent Police Station: NorthKentPoliceReleasewithoutBail.pdf.

With this email and bearing in mind that the three months have nearly elapsed with no charges being preferred by Kent Police against me, I wish to Appeal against the procedures that have been implemented by Kent Police against me.

I should be grateful if you would kindly update me as to whether this letter is the right way of instituting the Appeal and if Kent Police is found to be blameworthy of gross misconduct in the matter, what compensation could I expect from the Police Force together with the letter of apology.

Thank you for an immediate reply.

Yours sincerely

Dear Sirs

At 7.25 am this morning I received a text message from Santander Bank as follows:

Santander A/C ending 9612 went into Unarranged Overdraft on 2022-02-24. Payments could be refused if you don't pay enough money into your account.

I checked my Bank Account immediately and saw the following transactions, both of which are fraudulent. Cheque Serial Nos 108325 and 108326 are not even in my Cheque Book. I had received a similar text message from Santander Bank a few weeks ago and that time on checking my transactions no money had been diverted.

24/02/2022	PAYMENT BY CHEQUE WITH SERIAL NO 108325	£998.00	-£1,681.99
24/02/2022	PAYMENT BY CHEQUE WITH SERIAL NO 108326	£998.00	-£683.99

Kent Police would recall that in 2020, Santander Bank had played about with my Bank Account and embezzled money and frozen my account and it took an considerable period of time before the Accounts were restored to normal functioning: About | The Conservative Libertarian Society. A Woman Police Officer visited our house to question me if I had been acting fraudulently so that the Account was frozen and I could not do online Banking.

I teelehoned Santander Bank to complain again at this continued harassment by telephoning the 'Report a Fraudulent Transaction (Tel 0800 9 123 9 123 123) at 7.45 am this morning but noone answered the Call.

Please bring this matter to the attention of PC Nicholls with regard to the attached communication: ToPCNicholls(KentPolice)cclntCrimCrt(Appeal againstmy 5 hours of detentionin Police Custody)21Feb2022.docx.

This email is intended for MR SHANTANU PANIGRAHI, 9612

24 February 2022

Dear MR SHANTANU PANIGRAHI,

Your account is in an Unarranged Overdraft

Your Santander account ending 9612 went overdrawn without arrangement on 24/02/2022.

You won't be charged any Unarranged Overdraft charges however if you have any payments due then they may not be paid.

We recommend you pay enough money into your account so that any payments can be paid. Until you pay money into your account, payments could be refused

Kind regards

Your security is important to us – please read the following information carefully.

Fraudsters may send fake emails (phish), texts (smish), or ring you (vish), often pretending to be Santander or another official organisation, in order to encourage you to reveal personal or security information, such as passwords and card details, or coerce you into making a payment.

If you receive a communication like this, please be sure to:

- Think before you click or reply – messages may appear genuine but on closer inspection contain errors, have a strange tone of voice and contain suspicious links which are give-aways to fake emails.
- Never share a Santander One Time Passcode (OTP) with another person. Not even a Santander employee.
- Never download software or let anyone log on to your devices remotely following or during a cold call.
- Never enter your Online Banking details after clicking on a link in an email or text message.
